

Pennsylvania is not paying its fair share for public schools. It ranks 46th in the country in state share of education costs. Pennsylvania also has the widest gap in the U.S. between the highest and lowest spending school districts.

What does this mean for the Central York School District?

72%

Share of education costs covered by local taxpayers in the Central York School District. Property tax burden rank 206.

0%

School property tax changes since 2011 in the Central York School District.

$16M

The increase to Central York School District if it were fully funded by the state.

Contact these elected officials to let them know you support more funding for your schools and sensible property tax relief:

Senators

Sen. Kristin Phillips-Hill (R)

Sen. Mike Folmer (R)

How much is spent to educate district students?

$13,272

Spending per student in Central York School District

$17,482

Spending per student in highest spending districts

286

Central York School District rank in spending out of 500 school districts (#1 being highest)

Representatives

Rep. Keith Gillespie (R)

Rep. Stanley Saylor (R)

Here is what has changed for the district since 2011 when the state dramatically reduced education funding.

-$1,028,780

Change in local funding for the district from property and other local taxes

+$6,229,110

Change in state/federal funding

+23%

Change in Expenditures for Special Education

-2%

Change in State Revenue Dedicated to Special Education

+19%

Change in Payments to Charter Schools

Number of students
5,974

Performance - Students on Grade Level

Reading
63%

Math
29%

Child Poverty Rate

School District
8%

Statewide
18%

To view sources of this information please visit www.paschoolswork.org/data